REHABILITATION COUNSELING Assistant / Associate Professor (Tenure-Track)

General Information:

California State University, Fresno is one of the 23 campuses of the California State University System. The University's mission is to offer high quality educational opportunities to qualified students at the bachelor's and master's levels, as well as in joint doctoral programs. The current enrollment is approximately 20,000 students with diverse and culturally rich backgrounds. The University serves the San Joaquin Valley while interacting with the state, nation, and world. California State University, Fresno continues to promote students' active learning through collaboration in faculty scholarship and service learning opportunities with community organizations, education, industry, business and government.

Metropolitan Fresno, with a multi-ethnic population of over 600,000, is located in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley on the western edge of the Sierra Nevada Mountain Range. The campus is within easy driving distance of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Yosemite, Kings Canyon and Sequoia National Parks, the Monterey Peninsula, Lake Tahoe, beaches, sailing, lakes, and numerous ski resorts. Fresno boasts one of the most reasonable housing markets in California and offers a wide array of locally grown fruits and produce.

- Available for the Academic Year: 2007/2008
- Salary: Dependent upon academic preparation and professional experience. In some circumstances, exceptional faculty at higher ranks may be considered.
- Instructional Level: Graduate

Specific Position Characteristics: The successful candidate would normally teach graduate rehabilitation courses (especially counseling practicum), provide clinical supervision, student advisement and other duties as directed by the Coordinator. Specific assignments will depend on department needs. Nine-month appointment with possibility of summer teaching and other opportunities. Must have good teaching skills and be willing and able to commit to developing a focused research program in rehabilitation. In particular, the ability to teach counseling skills is strongly desired. Workload is 15 Weighted Teaching Units (WTUs) per semester, generally comprised of 12 WTUs of instruction and 3 WTUs of non-instructional responsibilities. In the first year, the College typically reduces the teaching load by 3 or more WTUs per semester to allow new faculty extra start-up time for teaching, scholarly work, research, and other professional development efforts. As faculty members progress through their careers, university statistics show that the average instructional load is closer to 9 WTUs per semester, as opposed to the formal expectation of 12, usually through assigned time funded by external grants. The successful candidate may be called upon to teach in a distance education mode and will be encouraged to develop web-enhanced and/or web-based instruction. Outcomes assessment and service learning are important components of the university curriculum. The successful candidate will be expected to work cooperatively with faculty and staff in the department and college.

Qualifications: Academic Preparation: An earned doctorate (Ph.D., Rh.D., or Ed.D.) in Rehabilitation Counseling or a closely related field required. The successful candidate must be CRC or CRC eligible. Possession of a Master's degree in Rehabilitation Counseling is an advantage.

Teaching or Other Professional Experience: Candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to or potential for teaching excellence and scholarly activity at the university level and advance the Program's research agenda. Candidates are expected to demonstrate a commitment to and potential for teaching excellence and scholarly activity at the university level. The successful candidate must have the ability to work effectively with faculty, staff and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds.
