

2009 California Sport and Exercise Psychology Symposium

February 27 and 28, 2009

Smittcamp Alumni House

California State University, Fresno

Hosted by

The Sport Psychology Club at California State University, Fresno is hosting the 2009 California Sport and Exercise Psychology Symposium, February 27 and 28, 2009. The objectives of the Symposium are to 1) provide future and current professionals of sport and exercise psychology an opportunity to present their research, projects and proposals (completed or in-progress) in a low-stress, collegial environment where they receive feedback from peers and mentors, and strengthen a network of sport and exercise psychology professionals in the State of California that leads to greater sharing of ideas and collaboration at research and practice. The event will open with keynote speaker, Dr Gloria Solomon of CSU Sacramento, and reception Friday evening followed by a full day of presentations and workshops Saturday. Call for Abstracts, and program, registration and lodging information will be sent soon. Questions and inquiries should be sent to Brittany Burns (Club President) or Dr. Dawn Lewis at sportpsychos@yahoo.com, (559) 278-4104 or visit

Department of Kinesiology
SPORT PSYCHOLOGY CLUB
California State University, Fresno

http://www.csufresno.edu/chhs/depts_programs/kinesiology/degrees_programs/sport_psychology/events.shtml

This event is supported by Associated Students, Inc.

