“Making a Difference”

The College of Health and Human Services at California State University, Fresno is beginning an exciting, new journey in fund development: Connecting online and through social networking. In April 2011, Fresno State will celebrate its 100th anniversary and the College of Health and Human Services has a number of exciting events and activities planned throughout the year. We thank you for your interest in our College, for taking the time to visit our website and hope you will check back again soon.

In these challenging economic times, your financial support is a crucial element in our mission to serve the San Joaquin Valley by educating tomorrow’s health service professionals. The College of Health and Human Services, together with its faculty, staff, community partners, students and alumni, are truly “making a difference.” There are many options for charitable giving to the College: direct donations, pledges, gifts that provide you with an income for life, and bequests. Gifts may support current programs, fund a named endowment or provide capital improvement. You may make your donation by completing the following gift form. Please print this form and mail/email to:
