NOTICE

Warning Concerning Copyright Restrictions

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Description of material: _____

The Special Collections Library makes these photographic reproductions for one-time use. Copies may not be sold or placed in other institutions. Copies may not be further duplicated or given to other individuals. The Special Collections Library reserves the right to ask for the return of copies when the user is finished with them.

In most cases, the Library does not hold copyright to the photographs we own. Publication or display of these reproductions without permission from the copyright holder may constitute copyright infringement. If permission to publish is obtained, citations to these copies must identify the location of the originals with the statement: "Special Collections Library, California State University, Fresno."
